HOPE TO STAMP OUT DISEASE

BATTLE AGAINST YELLOW FEVER SCARE

Cleaning Campaign Inaugurated at New Orleans—Nearly All Affected so far Italians—Rigid Quarantine Methods Adopted.

New Orleans, July 27.—All the forces engaged in the battle against the yellow fever scare to day joined in expressing the belief that while the situation has been and is serious, enough success has already been received in the application of the methods applied as a result of the work of the Reed commission in Cuba to justify the hope that for the first time in the history of the country what threatened to be a malignant epidemic of yellow fever will be stamped out before it comes.

With the cases reported to day, the aggregate since July 13 will run close to two hundred. Nearly all are Italians. These people are notoriously prone to avoid physicians and it was owing to this fact that the fever got a foothold in the district occupied by the Italians before it became known to the authorities. No precautions were taken to destroy the mosquito and the source spread with great rapidity that out of the cheap and crowded lodging houses Italians who could get away fled in mortal terror, some going to friends in other sections of the city, some by rail to surrounding towns and some by tugboats into settlements along the coast. The result is the appearance of the fever in various parts of the city.

A great cleaning campaign has been inaugurated. Every ward is being thoroughly organized with precinct organizations radiating from the major body. Detention camps established by the marine hospital service in order to enable persons to leave the city who want to get into sections quarantined against New Orleans were opened to day. Quarantines are being made constantly more rigid since the bears of health began to make public the number of cases and deaths. Mississippi Islanding her inspectors right into New Orleans. Every passenger is examined and tickets of through passengers scrutinized to prevent any one attempting to get into the state by surreptitious means. The Louisville and Nashville guards appear at the state line, the doors of the cars are locked and there is no chance given a passenger to leave the train until the line is reached.

The first car of the express, which was crowded, was smashed to pieces and only six of its occupants escaped.

Albany, N. Y., July 27.—Concurrence of judgments against the company amounting to $182,707, exaggeration of its surplus by over $200,000 and a fixed policy of delay in settling claims are some of the charges made against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company by Chief Examiner Isaac Vanderpool in his report submitted to State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks and made public by him. Vanderpool says that "of the $184,913.25 reported by the company in its last annual statement as being due or accrued for salaries, rents, office expenses, taxes, bills, accounts, etc., $182,707.92 consisted of judgments entered against this company." Continuing, he says: "Further variations, in addition to those appearing in credit assets and policy reserves as between figures published in the company's last annual statement and similar items embodied in this report, are produced in the item of unpaid death claims Dec. 31, 1904. They are returned in the annual statement of the company at $708,704.21. As a result of this examination the amount is shown to be $331,420.53."

"The company's last annual statement," says the report, "produced a so-called surplus of unassigned funds amounting to $359,211.68. The examination just completed fixes this item at $38,492.16." The report shows in detail how insurance amounting at one time to $1,223,000 finally yielded its beneficiaries $306,656, there having been deducted $293,656 on account of indebtedness ascertained by the company to exist against the assured, with a further deduction of $72,686, retained by the company for various alleged violations of contract by the insured.

SENT FOR RECEIVER

Policy Holders Want Assets of Society Placed in Court's Hands—Two Meetings Held.

New York, July 27.—In the form of an amended complaint to the bill filed last April suit was begun to day in the United States circuit court to throw the entire $421,000 assets of the Equitable Life Assurance society into the hands of receivers who shall "take possession of all funds, assets and property held by the defendant society of every character and description and administer the same as they may be directed by the court."

More than forty policyholders in the Equitable, representing a dozen different states, are included as complainants in the present suit, which is based in part upon the allegation that the society has no funds with which to meet its enormous losses and is insolvent. The amended bill alleges that the society has been guilty of mismanagement in syndicate transactions, that "unreasonable and excessive salaries have been paid," and that "large sums of money, ranging from $20,000 to $37,000, belonging to said assurance funds of the society were allowed by it to remain uninvested on deposit in banks and trust companies, without adequate interest in many of which banks and trust companies the said officers and directors of the society or many of them were stockholders, for the purpose of securing pecuniary benefit to such officers and directors individually, and such undue and unreasonable cash balances have existed since at least the year 1900."

Reciting the purchase of the Hyde stock by Thomas F. Ryan, the complaint denies the legality of the election of directors who are not stockholders of the society. The complaint goes on: "The assurance funds held by the society have been fraudulently and negligently and are being wasted and mismanaged and lost to the extent of many millions of dollars. It is without a legally chosen board of directors, and the real value of the property held by it is unsound and speculative."

MEETINGS HELD

New York, July 27.—The directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society held two meetings to day. Business transacted included the election of George F. Vetter, of New York, and Ernest B. Kruttschnitt, of New Orleans, to the board. The committee on pension reported and in almost every instance its recommendation was adopted. A number of pensions will be discontinued entirely and others reduced to 50 per cent of the salary received by the officials or employees at the time of severing their connections. It developed to day in addition to the pension of $20,000 a year to the widow of Henry B. Hyde there was voted at the same time a pension of $18,000 to Mrs. James W. Alexander, wife of the former president, to take effect upon the death of Alexander. ## ENTERTAINED BY PRESIDENT

JAPANESE PEACE ENVOYS VISIT ROOSEVELT

Newspaper Men Unable to Obtain Nature of Conference—Japanese Said They Had Delightful Visit and Talk.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 27.—President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon to day Baron Juroto Komura, minister of foreign affairs, and Kogoro Takahira, minister to the United States, Japanese envoys to the Washington peace conference. Subsequently he had a long interview with them, at which all phases of the approaching negotiations were considered, but neither the president nor his Japanese visitors cared to discuss for publication the nature of their conference, except in the most general terms.

Komura bowed gravely to the newspaper men who made themselves known at the station, but smilingly declined to talk. Takahira shook hands with one or two of his newspaper friends, but said there was nothing of importance that he could say at that time.

The envoys were driven directly to Sagamore Hill and remained with the president until 3:30 o'clock and then were driven to the station.

Takahira, speaking for both Komura and himself, said they had a delightful and satisfactory visit and talk with the president. Komura, he said, had desired to pay his respects to President Roosevelt, and, on behalf of the emperor, to thank him for his efforts to bring about peace in the far east. In response to inquiries Takahira said it might be inferred that they discussed the pending peace negotiations, but ended: "It would not be proper for me to give you the nature of the discussion. I could not do that." The minister declined to say whether the subject of terms the Japanese proposed to make to the Russian plenipotentiaries was one of the matters considered and would not indicate whether there was a probability of arrangement of an armistice during the sittings of the conference.

President Roosevelt, when interrogated this evening about the conference, replied that it was a subject which he did not feel at liberty to discuss for publication. It is expected that soon after the arrival of M. Witte, principal plenipotentiary of Russia, Witte will make a call on Roosevelt in advance of the presentation to the president on Aug. 5 of the two sets of plenipotentiaries and their suites. The president does not conceal his deep interest in the approaching conference of the envoys, but he lets it be understood that his interest will not lead him to interfere, even by indirection, with the work of the conference.

HOCH WILL BE HANGED TO DAY

APPEAL TO PARDONBOARD WITHOUT AVAIL

Governor Has Declined to Interfere—Reasons Given for the State Executive's Action in Case.

Chicago, July 27.—"Bluebeard" Johann Hoch will be hanged to morrow for wife murder. An appeal to the state board of pardons this afternoon was without avail. The governor had previously declined further to interfere.

GOVERNOR'S REASONS

Springfield, July 27.—Regarding the case against Johann Hoch, who is to be hanged to morrow, it was ascertained at the governor's office to day on reliable authority that the reasons which induced the governor to refrain from interfering were the following:

That Hoch was first sentenced to be hanged on June 21; that through his counsel he requested a reprieve in order to be able to present his case to the supreme court in the June term, the court being then in session. A reprieve was requested to the end of the term. Court was expected to adjourn in about a week and Governor Deneen granted a reprieve of five and one-half weeks in order to give him ample time to have his case presented to the supreme court. Under the law a defendant may present his case to any one of the justices of the supreme court during vacation who has power to award a supercedas in event he deems the case worthy of consideration by the supreme court. It is learned that the case has not been presented to any justice and that neither Hoch's attorneys nor any of his friends has presented to the governor any errors in fact or law, except by telephone connection over the long distance telephone.

IT HAS BEEN REPRESENTED TO THE GOVERNOR

by the state's attorney of Cook county that the case has been tried with the utmost care for the rights of the defendant and that the only point raised by the defendant was also the right of a woman whom Hoch had married to testify against her husband in a criminal case. On that point, it appears that the state proved that the state proved that before Hoch had married the woman in question he had been married to another woman, who is still living, and from whom he never had been divorced.

The supreme court has decided against the contention raised by counsel for Hoch. It is regretted that Hoch's friends did not have an opportunity to present his case to the supreme court, but it was felt by the governor that he had granted an ample extension of time; that the crime was an atrocious one and that the trial had been fairly conducted, no complaint having been lodged with him regarding its conduct. Under all the circumstances the governor felt that he could not do otherwise than to have done without making a precedent which would produce harmful results hereafter and so felt constrained to let the law take its course.

SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

Late to night Hoch consented to an interview and throughout the conversation stoutly insisted that he was an innocent man, that his conviction was an injustice and declared that if he had money he might have had a fair trial. He refused to reveal his identity, saying that he would take that secret to the grave.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Work Burlington Out Off to Begin Soon—Rock Island Is Fighting Interurbans—Story
by Wabash Veteran—Items of Interest—Personal Mention.

The Burlington surveyors have finished staking off the cuts and fills for the proposed new trunk south of this city and the work of excavating will begin about the first of August. The company will lay the rails and do the ballasting, but all the other work will be done by outside contractors. The bids for the work were opened Wednesday, but it is not known to whom the contract was awarded. Under the rules of the contract the grade must be in shape to lay the rails by Oct. 5, and in order to accomplish this and the work will have to be rushed through. The company will begin laying the rails immediately after the completion of the excavation and they expect to have trains running over the short cut before the snow flies.

The bids for moving the houses off the right of way have not been opened yet, but it is supposed that the work will be done by some of the local housemovers. Richard Towers is already engaged in moving a private house from the grounds. Gangs of men are engaged in straightening the curves in the track between this city and Centralia and the present rails will be replaced with 75-pound steel. A. E. Patton, real estate agent for the road, was in the city Thursday closing some deals for the right of way.

"Uncle Add" Clark, the veteran Wabash engineer, who for a number of years ran through this city, in a recent interview in the Boston Herald tells a number of difficulties encountered in railroading in the sixties, and of the famous Ben Holiday bet and how it was won. In that famous bet, in which Holiday wagered that he could transport a package by rail and stage to Sacramento faster than could be done by sending it the usual way by steamer to the isthmus, thence across the neck and up the west coast by steamer, Clark played an important part.

In the present generation it seems far cry to the days when a letter from California had to be carried by pony express more than 2,000 miles. At that time railroads were few; telegraph wires were undreamed of in the wild western country; and a transcontinental mail service was thought so impracticable that scarcely anyone worked it out. Ben Holiday, however, saw its possibilities and was able to carry it out with the assistance of Addison Clark, the engineer who is well known in Springfield, having resided here, but who now lives a life of retirement near Boston.

Clark was an engineer on the Hannibal & St. Joe and on April 3, 1860, he received the mail that had been started from New York at the road's eastern terminus, Hannibal. There was a large crowd to see the train start on its 206 miles' journey in competition to a steamer that was already transporting the mail to the isthmus. The train made an average of forty-three miles per hour, which was considered remarkable. The roadbed was unballasted and in many places the engine would sink with the track. There were no grades and the track was laid with the land. In four hours and fifty minutes, however, "Uncle Add" delivered the mail at St. Joe. A large crowd gathered at this city and the arrival of the train was greeted with a roar of cannon and the shouts of a surprised populace. The mail was turned over to the pony express that demonstrated the superiority of a transcontinental service over the old method.

Uncle Addison was one of the first to respond when a call for engineers was made during the civil war. During service he was given an engine and hauled a detail of seven or loads of troops to a place called Monroe to disperse the invaders. The mission was successful and they were chased back into the country and driven from Monroe, where they were surrounded. The union troops met with reverses and Clark, with the engine, which was not captured, was sent to Quincy, Ill., to ask Colonel Wood for re-employment. This was a sixty mile run and the story would be worth telling, but space forbids us enter further into it.

"Uncle Add" for twenty-seven years ran an engine on the Wabash through Springfield. He made many friends and was one of the best known characters on the line through Springfield. Running opposite to him was Michael Clark, who resides at 928 East West. Grand avenue. Clark ran most of the time between Hannibal and Bluffs until 1894, when he dropped the throttle for good. Many friends of the old engine driver will be pleased to hear that he is still alive and active after his long years of faithful service.—Springfield Register.

The Rock Island is determined to make an aggressive fight against interurban electric lines competing with it in Iowa. Next Sunday the Rock Island will put in service thirteen new trains between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City. With these trains in addition to those now in service the Rock Island will have practically an hourly service from 6 o'clock a. m. to 11 p. m. between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids.

In addition to running as many trains as its electric competitor the Rock Island will meet its rates of fare. Round trip tickets between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City will be sold for $1. The one-way rates of the electric line will be met by special commutation rates on the Rock Island.

While hourly service will be maintained between these points on week days by the Rock Island it will run numerous excursions on Sundays and sell round trip tickets for 50 cents half the reduced rate on week days.

The Rock Island will use trains composed of a light engine, combination baggage and smoking car and a coach for the present in meeting the competition of the electric line, but later gasoline motor cars will be used, increasing the number of trips each way daily.

Similar service will be inaugurated next Sunday by the Rock Island between Des Moines and Colfax; the round trip rate between those points being reduced to 50 cents.

The company proposed to establish similar service between other points in Iowa where the construction of electric lines is contemplated.—Rock Island News.

Information received officially says that the motor cars that have been projected for the Alton are certain. Changes made in the original plans for the construction of the cars and the inability to get prompt deliveries from the steel works at this time are responsible for the delay in getting the cars out.

W. H. Abel, of Springfield, division passenger agent of the Alton, spent Thursday in the city on company business.

Several of the Burlington surveyors went to Litchfield Thursday to do some work there.

C. P. Bemis, trainmaster of the Alton, passed through the city on 10 Thursday, enroute to Roadhouse.

H. V. Russell, train dispatcher for the Burlington at Beardstown, spent Thursday in Jacksonville.

AT NICHOLS PARK

Work of Laying Out Driveways and Walks Is Progressing Under Direction of Engineer C.
W. Brown—More Trees to be Planted.

A force of workmen under the direction of C. W. Brown, assisted by Frank Kitner, superintendent, and M. F. Fisher, the custodian, are at work this week laying out roads, driveways and walks in Nichols park, and are also laying off the grounds preparatory to setting out trees. The work is being pushed and considerable headway is being made.

As soon as the surveyors have completed their work the work upon the construction of the walks and drives will begin, and they will be completed as rapidly as possible. The lack of such conveniences has thus far been very noticeable and their introduction will change the appearance of the grounds wonderfully. An effort will then be made to place as many trees as possible this season.

Another improvement being made at the park is the strengthening of the driveway across the middle portion of the lake. This is being accomplished by adding brick bats and other materials of a like nature to the embankment.

The work of improving the park is necessarily slow, owing to the lack of funds, but the work will be prosecuted as expeditiously as the amount of money available will allow.

THE FINEST ONE DAY RIDE IN AMERICA.

The New York Central railroad, traversing the Empire state from Buffalo to New York, takes the traveler through a country of not only beautiful scenery and historic associations, but of surpassing interest from an industrial and a commercial standpoint. From the trains of the New York Central may be seen many of the great factories, employing thousands of men, that go far toward giving New York state its industrial supremacy.

Cities of great importance in the commercial world mark the way, while highly cultivated farms with their substantial farm buildings, give evidence of the wealth and prosperity of the section.

There is no more beautiful or interesting one day ride on this continent than that between Buffalo and New York via the New York Central, and it is always an instructive and entertaining journey, no matter how frequently it may be made.

The bill of costs in the Russo-Japanese case is assuming large proportions and compromise at most any price would seem preferable to continued litigation.

The tetanus germ has about completed its work, but the man who rocks the boat can be depended upon to fill in until the arrival of the football season, when another great sacrifice of life and limb to a nation's folly will be inaugurated.

The football rules committee has decided to "let well enough alone," and few changes in the gridiron game will be made. This news will certainly be received with great interest by an anxious public, a large portion of whom are already of the opinion that they are the worst ever.

From the way the new chief of police started out, Chicago don't propose to take any chances of a graft investigation and the housecleaning seems to have been undertaken with the idea of making it thorough. Let the good work go on.

From the statements of peace representatives it would seem that the island power had taken the initiative in the peace conference negotiations as she did in the war. The remarks dropped by the attaches to Baron Komura also indicate that Japan has some knowledge of the doctrine, "To the victors belong the spoils."

The great trouble maker in this country, says Cardinal Gibbons, is money, but that the evil is offset largely by the readiness with which Americans are inclined to part with it. Yes, indeed, a man who has the coin of the realm does not have to go into Missouri to be shown.

Cardinal Gibbons pays a high compliment to the press for the moral wave that has swept over the country. He says: "The bright spot in the whole swamp of present moral degradation is the fact that the degradation is made known. The fear, the dread of exposure, is the counterbalancing element and that fear, that dread, that horror of having a name once respected, dragged down, is due to the efforts of the press."

In fifty bye-elections held since the close of the Boer war in Great Britain the Balfour ministry has lost twenty seats to the Liberals which the Unionists carried in 1900. In three out of four bye-elections held in June and July the Liberals won, and in the fourth constituency, which was not even contested in 1900, the Conservative candidate's majority was only about one-third of his predecessor's.

As appears from a report from Ottawa, Mr. Rider Haggard, who recently visited United States and Canada on a tour of inspection of various colonies, such as that of the Salvation Army and others, preferred a request to the Dominion Parliament for ten townships of land, or about 240,000 acres, to be appropriated for a settlement, funds for the settlement in its initial stages to be supplied by the British government. Premier Laurier has expressed himself in favor of the grant, on condition that the laws of the dominion are complied with. Should the experiment be successful it is probable that other grants will be asked for, and that thus the movement of crowded city populations to the lands will be begun.

The president is expected to convene congress in special session in November and among the first questions that ought to have the serious consideration of the national law-making body is the immigration evil. The problem of our great cities looms up with ever-increasing magnitude and the influx of an undesirable class from the countries of south-eastern Europe makes the problem harder of solution and is a danger to our institutions and the civilization we represent. America was never intended to be an international dumping ground and the exclusion of undesirable citizens of foreign extraction cannot be too closely guarded. If we want to continue our proud boast of the home of the brave and the land of the free, we certainly want to look to our immigration laws with greatest scrutiny and insist upon their rigid enforcement.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.
Representative Julius Kahn, of California, tells a grimly humorous tale illustrative of the guile of "the heathen Chinese." One day it appears that Dennis Spencer, a prominent criminal attorney of Napa, in the state mentioned, was the recipient of a call from a Chinaman, who, without circumlocution at once put the question: "S'pose, Mr. Spencer, one Chinaman kill 'nother Chinaman with hatchet. How much you charge make him clear?" "Oh," exclaimed the lawyer, carelessly, "I'd take the case for $500." The Chinaman vanished without a word. In about a week he returned and laid the sum of $500 on Mr. Spencer's desk. "What's this for?" asked the lawyer. "You say you take the case for $500," explained the oriental. A light burst upon Mr. Spencer. Horrified, he exclaimed: "You mean to tell me that since I saw you last one of your countrymen has been killed?" "Certainly," calmly answered the Chinaman, "I kill him last night."

THE NATION GUARDS HIM.
An Englishman at luncheon in a New York club told a story that should be inspiring to Americans, especially to such Americans as think their country is going to the dogs.

"I was in Washington," he said, "I was walking down a level, straight hot street. Suddenly I heard a number of scattered hurrahs, and from every direction men and boys, laughing and crying out excitedly, hurried toward me."

"What is the matter?" I said to a well dressed man of middle age.

"He indicated an approaching figure, a graceful, sturdy figure, that drew near, with the swinging stride of an athlete in trim."

"Our president," he said. "President Roosevelt."

"I was amazed to see the head of your great country unescorted, and I exclaimed:

"But where is his guard?" "My informant touched himself on the breast and pointed from one to another of the cheering crowd."

"Here," he said, "and there, and there."

Manners of Japan's Police.
The police in Japan are expected to learn English. For their guidance a phrase book has been compiled. The following advice is taken from it, says the Liverpool police:

"Japanese police force consist of nice young men. But I regret their attitudes are not perfectly neat. When a constable comes in contact with a people he shall be polite and tender in his manner of speaking and movement. If he terrify or scold the people with enormous voice he will become himself an object of fear for the people. Civilized people is meek, but barbarous people is vain and haughty. They should imitate themselves to Caesar, the ablest hero of Rome, who has been raised the army against his own country crossing the Rubicon."

Kaiser at Dinner With Sailors.
Kaiser Wilhelm while at Kiel the other day inspected the cruiser Luebeck and took part of the rough fare of the sailors, says a special cable dispatch from Berlin to the Philadelphia North American. He arrived at dinner time and found that the crew was being served out of a huge pot containing a mixture of peas and salt beef.

"Well, my children, what have you for dinner today?" he asked.

"Peas, your majesty," was the reply. "That is excellent fare if it is well cooked," said the emperor, and he seized a plate, which he heaped high with food.

"That is culinary luxury," he remarked, when he had finished.

Darning by Machinery.
Mrs. George Henry Maynard of Denver has invented a machine which darns socks, doing the work much more rapidly than could be done by hand and turning out as smooth work as the best ever seen, says a special dispatch from Denver to the Chicago Record-Herald. The darning can be attached to a sewing machine, and any rate of speed can be attained.

Work For Wizard Burbank.
When Wizard Burbank has evolved from his experimentation in agriculture a cobless corn and a seedless watermelon, says the San Antonio Express, he might turn his attention to an odorless onion.

FOR THE CHILDREN*Monster Lightning Bug.

Did you ever hear the story about two young men from Cork who had never seen lightning bugs until they came across the sea to America? It happened that during their first night here the mosquitoes were very troublesome, and both Mike and Pat hid their heads under the bed covers. Finding this rather warm, Pat ventured to put his head outside just as a firefly floated in at the window.

"Oh, Mike!" says he. "Begorra, now they're comin' after us wid lanterns!"

Now, it may be possible for you to surprise many a native American quite as much as a firefly surprised the two strangers from Cork. Take a large kite that will fly well, which means that you know just how much tail it will carry. Remove a good part of the tail and tie on instead a sky lantern.

This must be made very light and arranged so that it will not easily catch fire. Use a piece of light, thin wood four inches in diameter, and near the center drive four slender nails one inch long so that a candle will stand firmly between them. Above the candle loop two light wires, fastening their ends to the board. Paste red or yellow tissue paper around the wire frame, and your lamp is made. Flying such a kite on a dark night will cause much amusement.

A Well Preserved Grandmother.

The train was crowded with the exception of one seat. This had been refused to various people the lady who occupied one-half of it telling every one who tried to sit down that "this seat is reserved." Finally a little girl entered, followed by an elderly woman, her grandmother. The child called her grandmother to take the seat, but the imaginary owner objected, saying, as before, "This seat is reserved." The eyes of the child were black, and they lighted up with indignation. She turned on the selfish woman and said in a voice loud enough to be heard through the car:

"I don't care if it is preserved. It isn't fair to preserve a seat when my grandmother has to stand. Besides, every one says my grandmother is a wonderfully well preserved lady, so she's just going to sit down here." And she did, to the enjoyment of every one in the car save the woman who sat beside her.

A Burmese Custom.

The people who live in Burma believe that a child's disposition is determined by the day of the week on which it was born.

The Monday born are honest.

The Tuesday born are jealous.

The Wednesday born are quick of anger, but as quick to forgive and grow calm.

Thursday's children are mild in disposition.

Friday's children are talkative.

Saturday's children are sure to be very quarrelsome.

The Sunday child—no matter if he is a spendthrift—the people of his country will insist he is miserly, for, according to their belief, Sunday's child is stingy and mean.

A Curious Optical Illusion.

Place on each side of a sheet of glass a candle, both being of the same length. When the sun shines on the window the image of the first candle will appear on the glass, the reflection taking the place of the second and real candle on the other side of the window. Now is an opportunity of showing one's friends your power as a magician. Explain to them that by lighting the first candle you will also light that behind the glass. You then apply a lighted match to the first candle, and its image being reflected on the glass, one at once assumes that the second candle has been lighted.

Fairies In Scotland.

In Scotland fairies are thought to inhabit the interior of the green hills, especially those of a conical shape. From these they go forth at night for dances by moonlight, and often the good country folk will show the circles, yellow or deep green, where the fairies have danced. It is accounted very dangerous to sleep or to be found within these circles after sunset. Cattle seized with cramps are said to be elf shot, and the only way to cure them is to rub the part of the body affected with a blue bonnet.

Hidden Gems.

1. Bella, please bring me that pear lying on the table.
2. Let me rub your hands. They look frostbitten.
3. It was a queer looking building. They had painted the lower part crimson and the top azure.
4. Bring out your wheel, Fred. I am on dad's.
1. Pearl. 2. Ruby. 3. Topaz. 4. Diamond.

Helen's Troubles.

Oh, dear me, you, Amanda. Why don't you sit up straight? Why do you make me scold you from early until late?

And as for you, Belinda, I'd really like to know why you can't hold your arm out straight. But always curl it so!

It's very well, Miss Lucy. For you to sit and stare. So impudent and saucy. As if you didn't care.

I s'pose folks think I'm playing with you dollies. They don't see my wicked bad behavior. Or how it troubles me.

TRIED TO JUMP BOARD BILL.

W. K. Daniels, of St. Louis, who has been boarding at the Park hotel for the past six days, tried to jump his board bill of $8 Thursday afternoon, but was captured at the Alton passenger station, where he was waiting to board the 3:57 passenger train for St. Louis.

The man has been soliciting for Collier's Weekly in this vicinity for the past six days and has been boarding at the Park hotel. Thursday afternoon Tim Phelps, the proprietor, noticed that he was acting strangely and went to his room shortly after dinner to see if he was there. The door was locked, but was at last opened with another key. The proprietor discovered that the boarder had taken his baggage and fled, taking the key with him. Mr. Phelps sent men to each of the depots and he was located by Policeman Estaque about three minutes before the arrival of the St. Louis train. He had bought a ticket for St. Louis, but returned it to the agent in order to get the money to pay the bill. He was not placed under arrest.

The class will be limited to fifty boys, aged between 9 and 14. The work will not interfere with school in any way, but is really a relief from the daily study.

Mr. Jeffries wishes to start the class early in September, and as he leaves the city next Wednesday to be gone until Aug. 16, he is anxious to have all the applicants present themselves before that time if possible.

BIG BARGAIN LIST OF PIANOS FREE.

A list that is the biggest that has ever been compiled, comprising fine pianos, has just been issued by Lyon & Healy. This list contains many Steinways, Webbers, Krakauers, Washburns, Sterlings, Huntingtons and other well known pianos. Moreover, the particulars of each instrument are given, so that the buyer may judge for himself whether or not the piano is a bargain.

This list will interest persons who want a very good piano, for the reason that many of these instruments are slightly used in name only, that is, they have had exhibition use in show windows, or have been used for brief periods in artists' studios.

The prices quoted are phenomenally low. Lyon & Healy are making a determined effort to close out several hundred instruments of this description within the next 30 days, and the prices have been reduced very materially.

Send for a copy of this list. If you do not wish to pay all cash for a piano, you can arrange for monthly payments on a portion of the price. The only difference in the cost would be 6 per cent on deferred payments. Address Lyon & Healy, 10 Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

Lyon & Healy exhibit the largest and most varied stock of pianos in the world—over 1,000 instruments.

HOSPITAL TEAM WON.

In an interesting game of baseball yesterday between the Central hospital and a picked team, the hospital team was victorious by a score of 12 to 4. Batteries—Houston and Laney; Konrad and DeFrates.

ILLINOIS NEWS ITEMS

Pike County Suicide-Rural Mail Carrier Has Olevy Scheme—Representative Graham Killed by Train.

Bloomington—Charles Bartz, aged 49, committed suicide Wednesday morning by hanging himself with his necktie at the home of his half brother, Fred Dreyer, four miles south of Gilliam. Ill health is the supposed cause. He was formerly in the saloon business in this city.

Springfield—Rural Mail Carrier Fred Darnell has devised means during the hot weather whereby he saves his horses and wagons of making the entire twenty-six mile trip each day. At an intersecting point on his route midway he keeps a bicycle, where at this juncture he leaves the horse feed and completes half his route on the bicycle. On his return the bicycle is stored and his return journey made with the horse. He saves a vast amount of time, also rests the horse. Other carriers are preparing to follow his actions.

Pittsfield—Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock Thomas Little committed suicide at his home at Green Pond, Pike county, by cutting his throat with a knife. He had been in bad health for some time. His wife, two sons and two daughters are living.

Carmel—The Louisville & Nashville flyer, east bound, Wednesday night struck Ross Graham, an aged lawyer and prominent Republican politician, and killed him instantly. He had just returned that morning from Springfield, where he had been to see Governor Deneen in regard to securing an appointment on the board of pardons. When crossing the track on his way home he was unable to move fast enough to escape the train, which terribly mangled him. Captain Graham, as he was familiarly known, served in the rebellion as a captain. He formerly was a member of the legislature from this district, and as such, gained the cognomen of "Honesty." He had served in many prominent capacities in his party.

Mason City—J. L. Kincaid, of Athens, president of the Farmers' Grain Dealers' association, of Illinois, has appointed the following delegates to represent the association at the National reciprocity conference to be held in Chicago August 16 and 17: Thomas Lamb, Jr., Bement, Ill.; John H. McCreery, Bement, Ill.; F. B. Hougham, Lotus, Ill.; O. H. Knight, Anchor, Ill., and William M. Strickney, Chicago, Ill. This association represents 135 co-operative grain companies in Illinois with a membership of over 15,000 grain growers. Every company owns an elevator, some of them three, and is the largest organization of grain growers in the world. President Kincaid will head the delegation at the conference.

Cairo—The population of this city as shown by the school census is 18,054, as against 17,154 last year.

MADE A HIT.

Some weeks ago there appeared in Judge an article stating that the paper would like to employ a man to lead an expedition to try and locate the north pole, and it was their wish that the party should have no previous experience along that line. The article was a humorous one and in a spirit of humor Guy Paul, of this city, wrote the editor of the Judge offering him his services. The letter was a good one, and in fact, so good that the editor decided he would publish part of it. It appeared in the issue of July 22. In return Mr. Paul was agreeably surprised to receive a letter from the editor enclosing a check that was not to be laughed at. Winchester has talent that ranks with the best to be found anywhere in the country.—Scott County Herald.

SHORT CIRCUIT.

A short circuit at the city electric light plant put the west end in total darkness early Thursday evening. The damage could not be repaired without cutting out the lights on the east side of the city, so it was decided to wait until this morning before making the necessary repairs. None of the lights west of Church street in either the Fourth or Second wards were lighted as a result of the accident.

ATTENTION, G. A. R.

CLARK OF MONTANA

By J. A. EDGERTON

Started Poor, Now a Millionaire Senator.
How He Figured in a Famous Feud.
Corners That He Engineered in Early Days.

THE recovery of Senator William A. Clark of Montana from two delicate operations consisting of the removal of the mustard bone from the base of the brain may be ascribed to "Clark luck." At least that is what it is called in Montana. These two operations both occurred within fifteen months. The first it was thought would remove the trouble, which started from a cold producing an abscess in the middle ear. But the symptoms recurring, Senator Clark decided to have another operation despite the fact that the surgeon said it was not absolutely necessary. Clark does not believe in half measures and was determined to have the matter over with for good and all.

This operation is one of the most delicate known to surgery. It necessitates exposing the brain, and a false movement might easily result in death. Thomas A. Edison was recently operated on in a similar manner. The fact that Edison pulled through would indicate that the fortunate outcome in both cases was due to the triumph of modern surgery. But despite all this, the Montana people would insist that Clark luck would have pulled the copper king through in any event.

Worked Twenty Hours a Day.
Senator Clark himself declares this so called "luck" to be the fact that he used to work about twenty hours a day and has not entirely recovered from the habit. The natives, while admitting the senator's steam engine industry, insist, however, that it alone could not have brought all the good things that have been piled in his lap by fortune. For example, there was that time when Clark was just starting. He had saved up a little money from mining, peddling, storekeeping and sharp trades when some miners got a portion of it away from him by selling him a hole in the ground. Clark tried to work the hole, only to find that he had been bunked. Being a good trader himself, however, he said nothing, but instincts of a captain of industry early in the game.

Clark had been a poor boy in Pennsylvania; had managed to get enough education to teach school for a year in Missouri; then pounded an ox team through to Colorado at the start of the gold fever; in another year heard of the gold excitement in Montana and hid himself thither, still with the ox team; worked as a common miner for a year and cleaned up $1,500, and on this capital brought in stuff from the Missouri river points and even from San Francisco and sold it to the miners for three or four times what it cost him. This might have been luck, but it also involved some rather foxy financialing, at which W. A. Clark was an artist even in those early days. The story of the start of the famous Clark-Daly feud illustrates this quality. This feud, which affected every industry and every man, woman and child in Montana and which finally came to a finish fight in the United States senate, was perhaps the most momentous in its consequences of any in American history. Clark and Daly in the beginning were business associates and friends. In fact, they were bound by closer ties, for J. Ross Clark, a younger brother of the copper king, had married a sister of Daly's wife. But there is no enmity like that of former friends.

Daly needed a certain strip of land to furnish water for his Anaconda mines and offered the old fellow who owned the strip $10,000 for the water right. The owner eagerly said he would take it, and in the morning the deal was to have been carried through. Clark heard of it and gave the old fellow $25,000 for the strip. Then he made Daly pay $125,000 for it. Marcus Daly paid the money, but swore vengeance. There are rumors that Clark had an earlier grudge to settle and took this method of doing it, but no one knows for certain except the copper king himself, and he won't tell.

When Clark was a candidate for terministration was that Senator Whiteley, who by a sensational manner had captured $30,000 on the floor of the joint convention, claiming that Clark had given it to him to buy votes. Clark demanded an investigation and was elected, the event turning sympathy in his favor and assisting him in securing re-election.

The senate committee on privileges and elections heard the case and unanimously decided that Clark was not entitled to his seat. Before it had a chance to report Clark resigned in a tearful speech. The next day, however, came an appointment signed by Lieutenant Governor Spriggs appointing W. A. Clark to the senate vacancy created by the resignation. It appears that Governor Smith, who was a Daly man, was temporarily absent from the state, and the resignation had been so timed that the appointment could be made by the lieutenant governor, a Clark man. Then the war in Montana broke out with redoubled fury. About this time the copper trust of which Thomas W. Lawson has been writing of late, was formed. Marcus Daly was made president. It was at this point that F. A. Heilze, the young copper Napoleon, came into the game. He raised a cry against the trust, organized a labor party, made Clark the candidate for the senate and carried the state. Daly did not live to see the final triumph of his enemy. W. A. Clark was elected to the full senate term ending in 1907, and this time there was no contest. Marcus Daly was dead and the feud was ended.

There were after rumblings in which Clark was charged with having thrown over Heilze, and there were even tales of a combination with the Standard Oil crowd to prevent any further contest of his senate seat. But these gradually died out, and the war which had divided a state into two hostile camps for a generation was over.

One of the most sensational incidents of this historic conflict related to newspapers. One morning Mr. Clark took up the Butte Miner, a paper of his own town, and in it read an artistic roast of himself. Before sundown he had bought that paper, and a few days later Marcus Daly took up the same paper and in it feasted his eyes on one of the most pyrotechnic and vitriolic lambastings of himself that has ever been put into type on this continent. Then he started the Anaconda Standard, strung a private wire to the town to get the news and made it of about the warmest newspaper ever published in a town of that size. Clark got control of other papers, and the newspaper war that ensued will make an interesting chapter in Montana history in days that are not yet.

One interesting story of Senator Clark relates to a barber, rather to two barbers. Happening into a shop one day the senator was rather insinuatingly reminded by the tonsorial artist that Charlie Clark, son of the copper king, paid $5 for his hair cuts. "Well," dryly remarked the elder Clark, "he has a rich father and can afford it. I have not." Thereupon he paid the regular price, 50 cents, and left the shop. The other barber was a Kansas City product and Clark ran into him while attending the Democratic national convention in 1900. Now this particular barber was not only an artist with the razor and shears, but was something of a talker as well. Clark became enamored of this colloquial ability and hired the barber to go out into the hotels and tout the praises of the senator from Montana so long as the convention lasted. So well did that knight of the shears perform his duty that Clark was one of the most talked of men at the convention.

A Fastidious Dresser.

There is a brighter side to this versatile character. People have accused Clark of being a money making machine, a man without heart and all that. They did not know him. Both of his marriages were purely love matches, and there is a touch of the mance in each. His first wife was the love of his boyhood. After he found a good mine in Montana, Clark went to Columbia college to take the mining course. He determined to know all about the business, as he has concerning every business in which he ever embarked. Returning home by way of the Pennsylvania birthplace, he found his wife had been taken to the hospital, and he was told that she had died. Clark was a fastidious dresser in those days, as ever, and that tight boots would be the death of him yet. The first Mrs. Clark, who had been a poor country girl, astonished the folks by her new dandy, and there are still windows about the countryside on which she wrote her name with her first diamond ring, which in that section was a novelty in those days. From this union there were four children, two sons and two daughters, all now married. A few years ago one of the daughters secured a divorce in a rather sensational suit. The first Mrs. Clark died in 1898.

The second marriage of the millionaire was even more romantic than the first. At Clark's famous United Verde mine at Jerome, Ariz., which, by the way, is one of the largest copper properties on earth, a Dr. La Chapelle, a Canadian Frenchman, was employed. At his death his family, which was a large one, was left in destitute circumstances. Senator Clark generously provided for their wants and adopted one of the little girls, Miss Anna, as his ward. Her husband, educated both in this country and Europe. After he was elected senator the ambitious matchmakers of Washington and New York were marrying him off every few days, and as the senator was always something of a gallant, he lent himself to their schemes. In this way the newspapers had various stories of approaching nuptials and even spiced up tales approaching the sensational stage. The senator himself put an end to all of these, however, by announcing a year or so ago, that three years previous at Marseilles he had married Miss La Chapelle, his ward, and by her already had a daughter two years old.

Finest Palace in Gotham.

For this new Mrs. Clark the senator is building the finest palace in New York, which is now rapidly approaching completion. It is estimated that altogether this wonderful house will cost over $5,000,000. To furnish the stone for it Clark owns his own quarry at North Jay, Me. For the bronzes he has his own factory in New York. He maintains other factories to produce other accessories of the palace. He is quite an art connoisseur, having paid over $500,000 for one collection of paintings and having bought the famous painting "Choosing a Model" for $42,000, outbidding George J. Gould. To supply the rugs for his house Senator Clark spent one or two seasons in Europe studying rugs, paying one of the most famous experts a regular salary for instructions.

One of the features of the new Clark mansion is an elevator that is a drawing room. The second floor is so arranged that at the touch of a button all the rooms open together into one magnificent art gallery. Altogether the place will be fully as spectacular as the career of the man who created it, who, starting a poor boy, now has an income of over $1,000,000 per month.

BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY YEARS.

Mrs. Minerva Smith, of Danville, Ill., writes: "I had bronchitis for twenty years and never got relief until I used Foley's Honey and Tar, which is a sure cure." For sale by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Uterine Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected.

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that American women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly," or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep; you are unable to quietly and easily perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

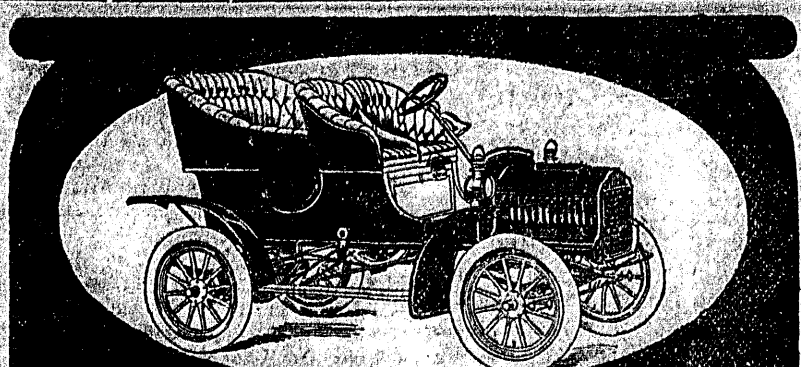

The relaxation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman.

Fit of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, back ache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost every night. I had three doctors and got no better, and life was a burden. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me. I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Dr. Fell was the senior intern in charge of the surgery floor of Alexian Brothers' hospital at that time, and had charge of the man, who was brought to the hospital after attempting to take his own life, first by shooting himself through the breast and then cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor.
